Divers Below

This flag could prevent a number of serious accidents involving divers and motor boats. Steve Wuobio (left), 1821 Allegan, and Randy Russell, 302 Jameson, are shown here with the flag which means there are divers in the area and boaters are required by law to stay a safe distance away. A line from the flag is fastened to a diver. Wuobio and Russell point out that divers rarely dive alone and the flag indicates there are two beneath the surface. Many serious accidents have resulted when divers surfaced and were clipped by a passing motor boat.
